The man from the ministry says yes...

EXCLUSIVE

A CONTRACT worth more than £800,000 was awarded to a community project by a Government minister despite the organisation being in liquidation.

Liberal Democrat Minister Andrew Stunell overturned the previous Government's decision to refuse the £839,000 sought for the Organisation Workshop by project Marsh Farm Outreach CIC (MFO) after campaigners from the project protested to him personally.

A contract was signed on October 1 between MFO and the Marsh Farm Community Development Trust (MFCDT) for the start of the workshop - which is designed to create 67 jobs and new businesses - to begin three days later.

But the trust discovered a winding up order was made against MFO on July 28 and, as a result, it believes MFO 'did not have authority to sign the contract'.

In law, liquidation is the process by which a company is brought to an end, and the assets and property of the company redistributed. It is also sometimes referred to as winding up.

A statement released by the MFCDT, states the trust and other agencies involved were not aware of and had not been informed of this situation prior to the signing of the contract which may have implications for the delivery of the project which has currently been suspended.

When Luton on Sunday tried to contact Mr Stunell, who was appointed a Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State in the Department for Communities and Local Government in May, to ask him why he had agreed to give this money to an organisation which was in liquidation and whether he was aware of the project's status at the time of the agreement, he was unavailable for comment.

On Wednesday, MFO was successful in their appeal to have its winding up order rescinded at the High Court in London, although on Friday the Companies House website still has 'in liquidation' against the organisation.

Glenn Jenkins, a spokesman from the MFO, said: "When it comes to us not being able to sign the contract (because of the programme's liquidation status), that is not how we understand it. This is because our bank accounts were not frozen.

"We have a brilliant working relationship with the Marsh Farm Community Development Trust.

"We are preparing to re-sign the contract with the trust and I hope and expect to have the suspension lifted by Monday. They are absolutely committed to take the project forward.

"We've had a lot of people trying to stop this project happening but this is a unique project which has never happened in the UK.

"It will give 67 unemployed people the opportunity to create successful enterprises. This situation is a complete distraction."

A Communities and Local Government spokeswoman, said: "We have been made aware that Marsh Farm Outreach were in the High Court on Wednesday facing a winding up order and that Luton

KILLER: Karl Oakley

VICTIM: Taylor Burrows

Mum's anguish at killer's sentence cut

EXCLUSIVE

BY SOPHIE SCOTT

sophie.scott@lutononsunday.co.uk

A MOTHER whose teenage daughter was stabbed more than 40 times says a decision to cut her killer's jail term has left her 'heartbroken'.

Karl Oakley, 24, had been sentenced to life for knifing ex-girlfriend 18-year-old Taylor Burrows to death in a 'frenzied and brutal' attack at her friend's home in Enderby Road, Luton, in February 2009.

Last December Oakley, of Trent Road, Luton, was ordered to serve a minimum of 15 years having pleaded guilty to manslaughter at Luton Crown Court on the grounds of diminished responsibility.

On Wednesday his sentence was reduced to 12 years by senior judges sitting at London's Court of Appeal.

Taylor's mum, Carol Burrows, of Enderby Road, said of the decision: "I feel gutted and heartbroken.

"If he is let out in 12 years he will only be 36, he could have a full relationship with someone who knows nothing about him and it could happen again.

"I seriously believe he is evil and had every intention of harming my daughter as soon as she finished with him.

"Taylor was only 18, she had everything to live for.

"I am very confused at the moment.

"I am very upset.

"I think he should stay in prison for the

Who are the stars of our town?

DO you know a Luton achiever?
As part of Luton's Best Awards 2010, Luton on Sunday and our sister paper, Luton & Dunstable Express, are looking for people in the town who make a real and valuable contribution to our community.

Many people have some considerable achievements to their credit and we want to recognise them.

There are three categories where you have the opportunity to tell us about these stars in our town.

Many young people will fall into the category of Young Achiever, sponsored by the Barnfield Federation, which seeks to recognise an outstanding effort and level of achievement by a young person aged 20 or under either in their education, training, social, sporting, community or work lives.

For those over 21, the University of Bedfordshire is sponsoring Adult Achiever. This award is for those who are making outstanding achievements in any area of the lives such as work, sport or leisure.

The Lifetime Achievement Award is to recognise a person whose achievements over a number of years has been far-reaching and made a positive contribution to the community.

Nominations for all 16 categories are open until Friday, November 5.

For full details of the awards, the criteria and how to enter, visit www.luton.gov.uk/lutonsbestawards or contact Sinead McNamara on 01582 546265 or email sinead.mcnamara@luton.gov.uk

Alternatively pick up a leaflet from the Town Hall, libraries and public areas across Luton.

The awards will take place at Luton Hoo Hotel on December 2. Those who nominate will be entered into a draw to win two tickets to this prestigious event.

Tears in the dock as benefit cheat mum put behind bars

BY JULIA SUTTON
editor@lsnmedia.co.uk

A MOTHER of three broke down in tears when she was jailed for nine months on Friday for a £60,000 benefit fraud.

Emma Wright, 35, had kept a bank account secret for six years while claiming income support, housing benefit and council tax benefit while living in Hurst Way, Luton, said prosecutor Quinton Newcombe.

Wright, 35, pleaded guilty at Luton Crown Court to two fraud charges amounting to a total of £59,562.

She had since moved to Norfolk.

Mr Newcombe said: "She withheld the existence of the bank account for about six years in order to allow her to claim benefits to which she was not entitled."

He said the deception began in about August 2002 and the account came to light in 2008, and that money was being paid into the account by the father of one of her children, who was not living with her at the time. Chloe Fordham, defending, said: "She was not living anything close to a lavish lifestyle but was watching the pennies while looking after her children."

"If she goes to prison her partner will have to give up work to look after the children, aged between 16 and two."

"If the sentence is suspended she could do unpaid work and begin to pay compensation."

But Judge Peter de Mille said: "Benefit fraud is easily committed and all too common. You received benefits from two sources over a long period and you did that completely dishonestly."

"I accept you did not use the money for a lavish lifestyle, but for the benefit of your family, but that is often the case."

"I also accept that immediate imprisonment will have an impact on your partner and your children, that is inevitable."

"But nonetheless I cannot regard this case as exceptional and suspend the sentence."

Fury as Oakley's sentence cut by three years rest of his life. I am very raw and angry. Some people may say that three years aren't very much but for me one day off that sentence is too much.

"His lawyers tried to get the life tariff removed and for him to be put in hospital, that's what it was all about. He would have been a patient not a prisoner."

When Taylor tried to call off their relationship, Oakley became increasingly aggressive and, less than a week before her death, he held a knife to her throat and threatened to kill her.

A watered-down version of events was given to the police on that occasion and Oakley was given a formal warning to leave her alone.

Days later he turned up at a friend and neighbour's house, where Taylor was staying, and forced his way inside where he went into the kitchen and grabbed a knife.

When Taylor came downstairs he jumped on her, stabbing her in the head, arms and body.

This week the Court of Appeal heard how, while not suffering from schizophrenia or depression, Oakley had a personality disorder caused by a troubled upbringing.

He had difficulty dealing with the breakdown of relationships and had previous convictions for harassing and assaulting past girlfriends.

His lawyers said that not enough weight had been given to Oakley's diminished responsibility when setting the minimum time he must serve behind bars.

Once Oakley has served his new minimum sentence, he will still only be freed once the Parole Board is convinced the danger he poses to society has passed.

If freed, he will remain on perpetual 'life licence', subject to prison recall if he puts a foot wrong.

NDC(MFCDT) suspended the contract to begin the Organisational Workshop project whilst this matter is settled. We are awaiting further information on the circumstances behind this."

When asked why the department had previously stopped the money for funding, a spokeswoman said: "We can't say any more than this."

On Wednesday Marsh Farm Community Development Trust (MFCDT) released a statement saying: "A contract was signed on October 1 by Marsh Farm Outreach CIC (MFO) and MFCDT with the project beginning on October 4."

"It has since come to light that a Winding Up Order was made against MFO on July 28, 2010 and, as a result, MFCDT believes MFO did not have authority to sign the contract."

"MFCDT and the other agencies involved were not aware of or had been informed of this situation prior to the signing of the contract."

"MFCDT understands that MFO has been to the High Court today appealing to have their Winding Up Order rescinded. We are awaiting official notification of the decision."

"These developments may have implications for the delivery of the Organisation Workshop project which has now been suspended pending consideration by MFCDT and the other agencies involved."

"They will also take into account the decision by the High Court and the Insolvency Office."

Ex-lollipop lady faces care home 'eviction'

EXCLUSIVE

BY SOPHIE SCOTT

sophie.scott@lutononsunday.co.uk

AN 89-YEAR-OLD faces being kicked out of her care home by the council which employed her as a lollipop lady for 40 years.

On Monday, Alzheimer's sufferer Violet Chater, who in 1995 was awarded an MBE for her long service at Ramridge Primary School, was told The Mount, in Tennyson Road, Luton, could close next year.

The news came as a devastating blow for Mrs Chater's family. She spent most of her career on the payroll of Luton Borough Council which runs the dementia home where she was admitted 11 months ago.

Mrs Chater had helped children cross Turners Road North since Ramridge School first opened in the early 1950s. She retired in 1995.

Her daughter, Sandy McDowell, said: "I understand there have got to be cuts, but why do they target the vulnerable first? They could make so many other cuts."

"When I was looking for a home for my mum before I decided on this place because when I came to visit I was so impressed."

"When I found out what they planned to do I was so upset and angry."

"My mum has been doing so well here, they have helped her so much and she has started walking again. They look after her so well, all the patients here as so happy and the staff are amazing."

UNCLEAR FUTURE: Violet Chater above

A council spokesman said: "The executive has recommended that Luton Borough Council carry out a 90-day formal consultation looking at the possible re-provision of care services for residents at The Mount."

"We would like to make it clear that no decision has been made and current residents, their relatives and carers, staff and the general public will all be fully involved throughout the consultation and decision-making process."

"The health and well-being of the current residents, as is always the case, is our number one priority and will be the key factor in any decision that is made."

New zebra foal arrival is on the run already

NEW STRIPES: The newly-born foal and its mother. Picture courtesy of ZSL/Dan Sprawson

BY CHRISTINA JOHNSON

christina.johnson@lutononsunday.co.uk

A SIX-day-old zebra foal is giving her fellow stripey friends a run for their money at Whipsnade Zoo.

Keepers were pleased to see the first zebra born in more than five years on Monday, sprinting around the paddock.

Itching to get going right from the start, the leggy youngster, which is yet to be named, was up and about straight away and can be seen gambolling around the lush green paddock which is home to the nine Grevy's Zebra.

Africa section leader Mark Holden said: "This is fantastic news for the zoo, Sabina kept us waiting for a bit longer than we thought, but she got there in the end."

"She's really looking after the foal very well and is a seasoned mother. It's also good news for the species as a whole, as Grevy's zebra are much endangered in the wild."

Grevy's zebras grow to 160 cm in height and can weigh up to 450kg which makes them the largest of the equids family which includes horses, zebras and asses.

While they have the same body shape as other equids, the Grevy's zebra has a long head and neck and slender legs resting on a single digit in the form of a hoof.

As foals they are born with a brown tinge, which soon turns to the distinct black and white.

They are now only found in north-eastern Ethiopia and Kenya and live in the dry, semi-desert grasslands of Africa.

Grevy's zebras are bred at Whipsnade Zoo as part of a European Endangered Species Programme.

This new addition makes it the 26th foal born at the zoo.

Top cop Alf Hitchcock set 'to catch a thief'

BY SOPHIE SCOTT

sophie.scott@lutonsunday.co.uk

THERE is a 'Suspicion' that after 'The Lady Vanishes' Alfred Hitchcock will become the new chief constable of Bedfordshire Police.

If you 'Dial M for Murder', you will not get the film director but Alf Hitchcock who will replace current top cop Gillian Parker when she retires at the end of the year.

Mr Hitchcock, 51, who is deputy chief constable at the National College of Police Leadership at the Police Staff College in Hampshire, was announced as the replacement on Friday.

He started his career with Lancashire Constabulary in 1977 before moving to the Metropolitan Police in 2003.

Mr Hitchcock (left) said: "It's fantastic news and an honour to have been selected."

"I was particularly keen to be appointed as Bedfordshire is made up of both rural and urban areas, each having its own complexities in terms of the way policing is delivered, which represents a really exciting challenge.

"There are also some really difficult challenges to be tackled in the coming years and I'm delighted to have the opportunity to address these with a force that is so forward thinking and positive about the future.

"Whenever I have visited the force I've been impressed by the enthusiasm of all the officers and staff."

Congratulating Mr Hitchcock on his appointment, Bedfordshire Police Authority chairman Peter Conniff said: "I'm extremely pleased to have been able to appoint someone with such extensive experience across different areas of policing, experience which will undoubtedly be used to Bedfordshire's benefit.

"On behalf of the full authority, I welcome him on board and look forward to working with him as we address the challenges ahead."

Chairs are stained with blood at drop-in centre

EXCLUSIVE

christina.johnson@lutononsunday.co.uk

A PATIENT said she was 'disgusted' to have found blood smeared across a chair in an NHS walk-in Centre waiting area.

Hayley Frank, 19, went into the clinic in Chapel Street, Luton, on October 1, for a repeat prescription and found the large stain on a seat.

She claims it was there for a quarter of an hour before it was eventually cleaned up, and took a picture of the blood on her mobile phone.

Miss Frank, a University of Bedfordshire journalism student, told Luton on Sunday: "It looked like it had been there for a while."

"I was there for about five minutes and was then called in for my appointment. I mentioned something to the doctor and when I came out I expected it to be gone but it wasn't, so I said something to reception."

"One girl who I spoke to on reception said she was going to get someone to clean it up. God knows how long it was there for."

"In total, I was there for about 15 minutes."

"It's awful to think that a place that is meant to be hygienic was so disgusting, and there was no effort to rush and sort the situation."

The GP practice manager for the centre, Amanda Philpott, said: "The patient had spoken to the girls on reception and told them there was blood on the chair."

"One of them went upstairs to clean it up and by the time they had got the equipment to clean it, one of the GPs was already on the way to clean it up."

"It was an immediate response and dealt with as fast as possible."

2011 census will mean 100 new jobs

AROUND 100 jobs will be created in Luton to prepare for the census next year.

A major campaign is underway to recruit part-time staff for roles such as co-ordinators and collectors which can be combined with other work or family and caring responsibilities.

The national census, conducted by the Office for National Statistics, takes place every ten years and is a count of every person living in the UK.

Jerry Lake, census area manager for Luton, said: "We anticipate around 100 posts will be available locally, and the successful applicants will be helping to ensure that the 2011 census is carried out smoothly and effectively across the borough."

The information from the census is used to build a detailed picture of communities and is not shared with any other Government department or organisation.

The statistics produced are help to decide how much money to give to towns like Luton for services including health, the police, schools and colleges, housing, roads and public transport.

Every household will receive a census form in early March next year to be returned by post and, for the first time, it will also be possible to complete it online.

The census day will be on March 27.

MP wants kids to design Xmas card

BY SOPHIE SCOTT

sophie.scott@lutononsunday.co.uk

LUTON South MP Gavin Shuker is looking for youngsters to design his personal Christmas card this year.

Mr Shuker launches the competition today, in association with Luton on Sunday and our sister paper, Luton & Dunstable Express.

The MP wants children to submit designs for his festive card, with the winning effort – as chosen by Mr Shuker and Luton on Sunday News Editor Lui Straccia – to be printed as his official Christmas card to be sent to thousands of people.

The lucky artist will be invited to Westminster with their family for a special Christmas dinner in the Houses of Parliament.

Mr Shuker, who became one of the UK's youngest current MPs when he won the hotly contested Luton South seat vacated by Margaret Moran in May's general election, said: "I was able to order House of Commons cards but they are just not really me. They are pretty old fashioned, with old paintings on and I just wanted something that's a bit more contemporary and forward thinking for this year's Christmas cards.

"I think opening it up to the kids in the area will be really great."

Can you create the winning design? The rules are as follows:
 ■ Pictures must be on an A4 piece of paper

■ Entrants must be 14 years or under

■ Envelopes must be clearly marked 'Christmas Card Competition'

■ The closing date is Sunday, October 31, 2010

■ The judges' decision is final

The A4 designs should be sent to: Gavin Shuker MP, House of Commons, London, SW1A 0AA.

Ceremony heralds start of Olympic pool work

AFTER years of waiting and many false dawns, work on Luton's Olympic-size swimming pool has finally got underway.

Construction of the £26 million state-of-the-art Aquatics Centre officially began on Thursday when the first sod on Stopsley Common was cut.

A ceremony was also held in the exact spot where the 10 metre diving board will be, with the building work to start in earnest on October 18.

Kicking off the digging this week were swimmers Lauren Hobbins and Rebecca Gilbertson, along with Luton Borough Council leader Hazel Simmons, Luton South MP Gavin Shuker and Pip Hesketh, of Luton Learning and Community Partnership.

Cllr Simmons, said: "It is going to be a wonderful landmark for the town, which is going to become a city. "Luton deserves the best."

Mr Shuker said: "This is a really big investment in the community that will last for years to come.

"In the 1960s, before I was born – I know, shocking – they built Wardown Swimming Pool, and when I used to go for swimming lessons every week it was a bit crusty then.

"This centre will not be like that. Luton is the kind of place that's on the up."

Features of the new facility, to open in July 2012, will include:

■ A 50m, eight lane pool with a world class diving facility and seating for 400 spectators

■ A 20m, five lane community pool with moveable floor

■ A large sports hall capable of hosting a wide range of sports

■ A 100-station state of the art gym

■ A dance studio, spinning room and multi-purpose activity room

■ A function room and café that is also available to park users

Don't take it lying down

SIR - Councillor Barry Neale (Lutonline, October 2010) is asking the people of Luton to be complicit in cutting their own throats, asking us where the axe should fall first.

Two questions are asked. Firstly, what should we do differently? If I may make a bold suggestion, we can start by refusing to accept the necessity of cuts at all.

No one is talking of being wasteful or indulgent. There is nothing at all indulgent in having safe places for our children to play, or teenagers to go. There is nothing wasteful in providing services for the elderly or the vulnerable. Neither is there anything utopian in demanding quality services and maintaining jobs.

As the Institute for Fiscal Studies demonstrates, the cuts will have a disproportionate effect on the poor, which leads some to believe that they themselves will not suffer.

But rubbish bins not being emptied, libraries being closed, parks left unkempt, street lamps being turned off... what daft cash-saving scheme will be considered next?

An alternative would include placing the banks under democratic control, stopping distorting cash bonuses, raising revenue by taxing the rich, withdrawing troops from Afghanistan, cancelling Trident, and plugging tax loopholes so that corporations and fat cats cannot cheat the system by tax avoidance.

Addressing the 'tax gap' is a vital part of tackling the deficit. Figures produced by the Tax Justice Network show that £25 billion is lost annually in tax avoidance, and a further £70 billion in tax evasion by large companies and wealthy individuals.

An additional £26 billion is going uncollected.

So, let's start there and leave our services untouched and dare we suggest improved.

If you, like us, believe that there is an alternative to cuts and are refusing to do the dirty work of Cllr Neale, join us on October 20 on the Town Hall steps when the Spending Review is announced.

Mount is easy target

SIR - Go on Go on Go on! I would like to ask through your newspaper that a spokesperson for Luton Borough Council (LBC) explains to me and your readers what exactly it means in its report recommending the closure of the council run home 'The Mount' when it says and I quote: "It is becoming increasingly difficult to provide levels of dignity, including respect of cultural needs."

Well I am sure it has nothing to do with making a nice cup of tea.

Seriously though, the proposed closure of The Mount, the council-run home for dementia sufferers and one of the only ones still left in Luton, is just too easy a target when it comes to making cost-cutting savings.

I would like to know what role the statutory bodies ie LBC and the NHS will actually have in providing substantive services for the elderly, but particularly those suffering from the various dementias including Alzheimer's, which experts have predicted will affect one in four of the

Cuts are result of Labour failures

SIR - Last week, Labour council leader Hazel Simmons reported that tough decisions are having to be made in order to achieve the savings required by the Government.

There are, however, some significant factors missing from her report.

For a start, there is no reference to the reason why the cuts are necessary.

An incompetent Labour Government promised 'an end to boom and bust' and then participated in the creation of a giant bubble which has burst.

There is no mention of the 87 per cent increase in council pay which the Labour council awarded to Councillor Simmons.

There is no mention of a £26 million swimming pool to be built on the edge of Luton and to be paid for by borrowing the money.

Repayments will be made from the dividend that the council receives from the airport and this money is currently used for the benefit of the residents of Luton.

There is no mention of the controversial £89 million busway project which has now commenced construction.

And there is no mention of the consistent failure to fulfil the Labour Party manifesto commitment to have council tax increases below the national average.

Another Labour failure. Councillor Qurban Hussain Deputy leader of Luton Borough Council's Liberal Democrat group ageing population. Let us be very clear: dementia is a disease of the brain. Surely it would be an outrage to move anyone suffering from a terminal illness other than a dementia related one from their place of nursing care in order to cut costs?

My partner and I have recently received glossy publications from the council called 'Prime Times' to help the over-50s get the most out of life.

This together with the revelation from your newspaper that just under £1 million has been spent on 'interpreters' for foreign criminals at around £66.76 an hour in just under a two year period simply beggars belief.

It is time the people of Luton woke up and realised exactly what is happening not only to the council taxes we pay but also that the suffering caused by this closure if it goes ahead, including the loss of 43 front-line jobs, will have very far reaching effects for the elderly and we are all going to get old.

If a civilised society is measured by how it treats its most vulnerable citizens ie the very young and the elderly at the other end of the spectrum, then LBC and any external consultants involved in this process is getting it very wrong.

CO2 figures easily derived

SIR - When I read Councillor Michael Garrett's comments about climate change in Luton on Sunday on September 19, I dismissed them as rantings caused by an added mind from too many early mornings delivering milk and late nights at council planning committees.

No doubt he believes the Earth is flat and that diseases are caused by bad smells - the miasma theory.

However, the letter in response to him from Mr Fiske in Luton on Sunday on September 26 does need a reply.

He says he would love to know how the figures for reductions in CO2 are derived; he says he suspects that carbon dioxide emissions the council is quoting have been worked out using a computer model.

The likely answer is - NO. If the council knows how much fuel, oil and gas it has used, from its bills, then it is easy to work out how much carbon dioxide has come away from it, and as far as electricity is concerned the generators know how much fuel they used to generate a kilowatt hour of electricity.

Ron Turvey makes a good point that it is the responsibility of all managers to monitor and reduce costs, and of course he is right in that. To be able to do that, managers need to know what their costs are.

The way that energy is used and paid for at the moment, from reading publicly available council documents, is that managers do now know how much energy is being used in their areas, so help is needed from the climate change team, and by any measure, they seem to be good value for money.

Having made some enquiries, I can assure Mr Turvey that neither managers, nor other staff at Luton, get a bonus and I do not believe that they should get a bonus, as suggested by him, if they make cost savings - that is part of their job.

J Fourier
Sundon Park Road, Luton

It's not our fault

SIR - The awful substance 'carbon' referred to by Jeff Pullinger (Luton on Sunday, September 26) is not the soot found in chimneys, nor dangerous pollution.

Mr Pullinger is referring to carbon dioxide (CO2), a colourless, odourless gas indispensable for all green plants, human and animal life.

CO2 is harmless but Carbon Monoxide (CO) with only one oxygen molecule is deadly poison. CO2 is around .033 per cent of the atmosphere.

In the dinosaur era, it was 15 times higher. Plants grow better with more CO2.

Scary propaganda about 'carbon' has increased our food, fuel and tax bills. Colin Hall seems unaware that shifting vast areas of American and Brazilian farmland from food to ethanol production has raised food prices pushing the world's poorest people toward famine.

The phony 'consensus' on 'man-made climate change' is finally cracking.

According to an article in The Times on September 30, the Royal Society, Britain's leading scientific institution, has been forced to rewrite its guide to climate change by 44 of its fellows and to admit that there is greater uncertainty about future temperature increases than it had previously suggested.

Consensus is a political, not a scientific concept.

In June, the 58th Bilderberg Meeting of the world's most powerful financiers, industrialists, bureaucrats and politicians was held in Spain.

Global Cooling was on the agenda, for elitists are well aware that it represents a far more serious and imminent threat to the world than global warming, but are so far unwilling to admit it except behind closed doors.

The HAARP project in Alaska, USA, beams electrical power into the ionosphere with climate manipulating capability.

In his book 'Between Two Worlds' former US Presidential Adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski cites climate manipulation as a non-lethal weapon of mass destruction for political and social control.

This summer 20 per cent of Russia's crops were destroyed by drought and wildfires. Russian food exports are currently banned.

Robert Theobald
Bushmead Road, Luton

Stop being greedy

SIR - I hope those who refute the threat of climate change (Ron Turvey and Richard Shaw, Letters October 3) are not using that as an excuse to 'continue as normal'.

What is clear (because we can measure fairly accurately the composition of the Earth's crust etc) is that we are using too many resources.

There is not enough iron, aluminium, oil etc for everyone across the world to have cookers, fridges, cars, medicines etc in the same manner as the average Brit or American.

I, for one, would rather use wind, wave and solar power to heat my house and leave the oil and coal as feedstocks for the pharmaceutical industry, and maybe for some plastics for essential uses, but not for the throwaway society we seem to have become.

While we argue about the reality or otherwise of man-made climate change are we risking forgetting the issue of over-using the Earth's limited resources?

We have to stop our greedy consumption and 'live simply that others may simply live'.

Jenny Spouge
Dorrington Close, Luton

Humans are at fault

SIR - Despite assertions by two of your correspondents last week, climate change is almost certainly happening and is very probably caused chiefly by human beings.

The latest report by the Royal Society, dated September 2010, studiously summarising a huge body of scientific research, states: 'There is strong evidence that the warming of the Earth over the last half-century has been caused largely by human activity, such as the burning of fossil fuels and changes in land use, including agriculture and deforestation.'

On the probability of climate change: what if expert engineers told you that there was a 90 per cent chance of your house collapsing and killing those most dear to you within it?

Would you not act urgently, even if a few doubters came along to suggest otherwise? Supposing it were 'only' 70 per cent? Or 40 per cent? Or just ten per cent? And what if it were the only home we have in the universe - our planet?

The science is inevitably complex, and in the nature of things we cannot be completely sure of the future.

The Royal Society report notes that scientists continue to work to narrow areas of uncertainty, but it has been suggested elsewhere that if anything scientists, with their concern for truth and integrity, may have been too cautious in their warnings.

However much it alarms us, we have to assume that catastrophic change awaits the planet in the form of more frequent extreme weather events, famine, flooding, disease and war, affecting the poorest and most vulnerable first - unless we take action immediately and in fundamental ways to curb our exploitation of the environment.

We need a new vision of how we can live differently together, escaping consumerism, discovering true social justice and care for all, both in our town and in the world at large.

Police diesel gaffes cost thousands to put right...

BY HAZEL SLADE

editor@lsmmedia.co.uk

BEDFORDSHIRE Police drivers have mistakenly filled the force's diesel cars with petrol 39 times in the last two years.

That is despite every vehicle being marked with fuel sticker.

And the accidental mis-fuels by officers and staff have cost the taxpayer £2,456 to put right.

The statistic was revealed following a request under the Freedom of Information Act.

Of the authority's 320-strong fleet, 262 of the vehicles run on diesel.

A police spokeswoman explained the officers and staff may not be assigned to the same car every time.

She said: "Between the financial years 2008/09 and 2009/10, the fleet as a whole covered in excess of 8.4 million miles, attending incidents and carrying out operational policing in the county.

"The 39 mis-fuels recorded in the last two years represent only a fraction of a per cent of the number of fill-ups we have carried out in driving those 8.4 million miles.

"The average direct cost of a mis-fuel is approximately £63 and all vehicles are marked with a sticker stating which fuel they require, in addition to this some vehicles have fuel hole restrictors to prevent unleaded nozzles being used.

"We are working hard to reduce costs associated with operating our fleet and despite increasing our fleet by 11 and driving an additional 48,000 miles this year compared to last, we actually saved over £45,000 on fuel."

County's CPS rated 'good' in new report

A REPORT published on Wednesday has found the Crown Prosecution Service delivers 'good' service.

Bedfordshire's overall service has 'improved' on its 2007 inspection, with all of the 13 areas assessed at least a 'fair' rating from the independent statutory body.

The CPS Inspectorate's chief inspector, Michael Fuller, said: "I am pleased that this inspection has found that overall CPS Bedfordshire's casework is dealt with to a good standard.

"The handling of Crown Court casework is particularly encouraging, there has been a marked improvement since our last assessment in the handling of the disclosure of unused material and the application of the custody time limit regime which we found to be excellent.

"Overall we found that the area was good. Aspects of performance which have attracted critical comment for some time, particularly the area's approach to community engagement are now being addressed.

"The primary challenge in this and future years will be to achieve the necessary savings to make up its projected budget shortfall. The area needs to review its current structure and identify options for making substantive cost savings.

"Our recommendations should result in budgetary savings, which is a key CPS national priority."

Thief sent to jail after being identified from CCTV picture

A MAN has been jailed after a member of the public identified him after seeing CCTV images the police circulated.

On Monday Jean Saintilmond (right), 24, of no fixed abode, appeared at Luton Magistrates' Court where he pleaded guilty to the charge of theft and was sentenced to 35 days imprisonment.

During the investigation, PC Cathy O'Connor, who led the inquiry, had circulated the CCTV picture of Saintilmond to the local press in a hope that someone would come forward to help identify him.

PC O'Connor said: "I would like to say a big thank you to the member of public who helped with this investigation and also to members of the media who published the CCTV image.

"Without the public's help it would be very difficult for the police to pursue this type of crime and I would encourage anyone who has information about criminal activity in their area to come forward and tell the police what they know.

"They can do this completely anonymously and have a big impact on reducing crime in their area."

Arrest was load off dealer's mind

WHEN police knocked at the door of a drug dealer he was secretly relieved, his barrister told a court.

Mizaur Rahman, 28, of Maple Road West, Luton, had been working for dealers he owed money to, but even though his debt was cleared he was still under pressure to carry on supplying crack cocaine and heroin – something he did not want to do.

Clive Smith, defending at Luton Crown Court on Thursday, said:

"When police called it was a relief because he knew he would no longer be at the beck and call of the dealers."

Rahman pleaded guilty to two charges of possessing Class A drugs with intent to supply and possessing cannabis for personal use.

He was jailed for two years and four months and £1,455 cash found at the house was confiscated as proceeds of crime.

Daniel Siong, prosecuting, said the raid was carried out on February 17 this year and Rahman was fully cooperative with police.

Seventeen wraps of crack cocaine and eight wraps of heroin were found worth about £330 on the streets, along with cannabis and drug paraphernalia.

He told them he owed £2,500 to dealers from his addiction to 'smoking weed'. He began dealing from home in November last year, and had repaid the debt. The week of the raid was the first time he would have made a personal profit, he said.

Rahman said he had been put under 'intense pressure' to store, bag up and sell the drugs and was given a mobile phone for customers to contact him.

He said his parents were in poor health, his grandmother died and he was badly injured in a cycle crash which all led to greater drug use and a gambling habit.

Car plate thefts still at high level despite big drop

MORE than 1,500 number plates have been stolen across Bedfordshire in the last two years.

However, the number of these types of crimes has dropped by almost a third in the past 12 months.

Figures released by Bedfordshire Police under the Freedom of Information Act show 643 vehicle registration plates were taken from vehicles, homes and other buildings last year.

During the previous year, 919 were stolen.

A Bedfordshire Police spokeswoman said: "Number plate theft is a relatively easy crime to commit as plates aren't too difficult to remove.

"Many people do not park their cars in garages and very often residential streets are not covered by CCTV cameras.

"However, we record approximately 40,000 crimes a year in the county, so this type of crime is a relatively small percentage.

"It is believed that the plates are used for a variety of reasons.

"In some cases they are taken to assist in the committal of crimes such as theft of petrol, as false plates help to disguise a vehicle, however they may also be used to avoid congestion charges or commit road traffic offences such as speeding."

Bedfordshire Police initially ran Operation CAPS (Car Accessory Protection Scheme), which offered an opportunity for members of the public to have their number plates secured by neighbourhood officers and make them harder to remove.

The spokeswoman explained: "Primarily, this was done using an epoxy resin glue to prevent the fixings holding the plate to car being tampered with.

"Although the operation is no longer as widespread, the Safer Neighbourhood Teams still carry kits to enable them to secure plates using non-returnable screws.

"In addition to raising awareness, in recent years there have also been a number of products made readily available in high street shops to enable people to cheaply and quickly secure their plates."

Cops' burglary tip-off leads to drugs bust

POLICE officers discovered a cannabis factory while responding to a burglary tip-off – for the second time in two weeks.

More than 60 plants of the drug and 390 pots containing roots were found after a 'concerned' caller had rung about a house in Readers Close, Dunstable, on Tuesday morning.

Full hydroponics lighting and air filtration systems were also discovered on the first floor, and a 27-year-old man was arrested for producing a controlled drug. He was later released on police bail pending further inquiries.

It is the second time in the past fortnight that police have uncovered the production of cannabis plants in the town, although the discoveries are not connected.

Officers had previously found 110 plants at a house in Worthington Street while responding to a 'burglary' on September 22.

Safer Neighbourhood Team Inspector Bill Abram said drugs will not be tolerated.

He said: "We would urge the community to continue to contact us with their suspicions, because we will act on them."

The arrest comes as Bedfordshire Police moves forward with 'Op Vision', which is aimed at reducing burglary and promoting crime prevention.

Anyone with information about drugs can speak to their Safer Neighbourhood Team by contacting police, in confidence, on 01234 841212, or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

Offering victims help

TWO women a week on average are killed by a partner or ex-partner, accounting for around half of all murders of women in the UK.

It is the sort of shocking figure agencies in Bedfordshire are trying to help reduce, and one way is to hold a series of events to raise awareness of the issue and show those affected there is help at hand.

Luton's Community Safety Partnership co-ordinator, Nikki Middleton, said: "We do recognise some of the violence is by women against men. Abuse also happens in same sex relationships on the same level as heterosexual relationships.

"However, when you look at high risk cases the victims are overwhelmingly female."

ONE in four women, and one in six men, experience domestic violence at some point in their lives. This month it is Domestic Abuse Awareness Month, which aims to tackle the problem head-on. CHRISTINA JOHNSON spoke to a Luton community safety co-ordinator about what sort of help is available to those who need it.

In Luton, there has been an increase in the number of crimes and incidents relating to domestic abuse, with 1,251 and 3,868 respectively between April 2009 and March 2010.

The awareness month is also being run by a number of agencies and aims to get across three key messages

Mrs Middleton said: "The first is that domestic abuse is not acceptable in any form. What we know is that those who abuse people will often convince them it's their fault and that it's normal. This is not the case and it's not acceptable.

"The second is that help is available. People can feel very trapped and different factors can increase this, including financial or racial. The help does not just mean phoning the police though.

"The third is that agencies are working together. We recognise domestic abuse is complicated and we are committed to working together to ensure that victims are supported and perpetrators held accountable.

"My role is to work with the agencies in the most effective ways and we see a spectrum of cases from people having arguments to very serious violence and, in some cases, death."

The Specialist Domestic Violence Courts in Luton and Bedford have also proved very useful, according to Mrs Middleton.

She added: "These are courts where staff are specially trained to deal with cases of domestic abuse and which can offer additional support to victims and witnesses.

"This can include special measures such as privacy screens so the victim doesn't have to see the offender, or support from an independent domestic violence advisor.

"The advisor is available to high risk victims of domestic abuse and works with both female and male victims.

"They are independent of any other agency including the police or local authority and work to give practical support and advice to victims including those whose cases are progressing through the criminal justice system.

"Multi-agency risk assessment conferences also consider high risk cases of domestic abuse referred by agencies within the town.

"At these meetings statutory and voluntary agencies will come together to identify what they can do to support high risk victims and improve their safety.

"For example, this may mean assisting someone to leave the area or providing extra security to allow them to remain in their own home.

"The focus of these meetings is the safety of the victim."

To raise awareness and money for charities supporting victims of domestic abuse there will be three events in Luton this month.

They will take place on:

■ Friday, October 15, at Melson Square, The Mall Luton, 10am-4pm

■ Monday, October 25, at Luton & Dunstable

Ball guests give generously to support children's hospice

A MASSIVE £40,000 has been raised to support a charity's children hospice.

Hundreds of guests gave generously in auctions at the Keech Hospice Care Butterfly Ball last Saturday at The Conservatory, Walled Gardens, at Luton Hoo.

The money will go towards the children's hospice which provides specialist care and family support for children with life-limiting conditions across Bedfordshire, Hertfordshire and Milton Keynes.

Prizes from the auction, hosted by Antiques Roadshow expert John Bly, included an 11-day personally tutored cookery course from Michelin star and Keech Hospice Care ambassador Jean Christophe Novelli, a personally signed football shirt from David Beckham and a two night stay at the stunning Hotel Arts in Barcelona.

Keech deputy chief executive Mike Keel said: "We are absolutely delighted and touched by the generosity of everyone who supported us at the Butterfly Ball, in this the tenth anniversary year for our children's services.

"I'd especially like to thank our event sponsor Abacus, and also Jean Christophe Novelli and his fiancée Michelle Kennedy for the star prize in our grand auction which on its own raised an incredible £1,500 for us.

"And also, thanks to our auctioneer John Bly for doing such an excellent job in encouraging people to bid for the prizes and donating to such a great cause."

Tom's off to Finland to sum up his game

AN INVENTOR is on a mission to Finland to discover why a board game he has devised is proving such a big hit with schoolchildren over there.

Tom Lennett, 66, will be visiting schools in the Scandinavian country where his game, Numenko, is being used as a teaching aid for maths.

At Caddington School, where his granddaughter is a pupil, Numenko is being used to help youngsters with their maths.

He set off for Finland on Friday and will also pop in to see the greatest toy and games-maker in the world - Father Christmas.

He will cross the Arctic Circle into Lapland to visit him in his official home town of Rovaniemi.

It was his determination in the 1980s to help his 12-year-old daughter Stephanie, then a Challney High School pupil, with her maths that gave birth to Numenko.

Unable to find a game in the shops in Luton, where the family was living at the time, Mr Lennett began devising one.

Over the years, he worked on ways to increase the fun factor and make it challenging. Numenko involves players using numbered tiles to make up sums on a board, crossword style. Players can add, multiply, subtract and divide.

The answer to the sum is the score and the player with the highest total score at the end of the game wins. He said: "I was intrigued that so many games were going out to Finland and so I did some research concerning education there and discovered that Finnish children topped the world league when it came to maths skills. I thought that was really interesting.

FUN LEARNING: Tom Lennett

INFLUENTIAL: Tom and his cousin meet Father Christmas in Glasgow in 1952

"I also found out that Britain had been sliding down the world league in terms of education.

"I thought I would visit schools in Finland to see why Numenko is proving so popular and what lessons I could learn to help me market it more effectively back here so that our children get the benefit."

But it was while going through some old family photographs recently, that he got the idea that while in the country he would visit Father Christmas.

Tom, from Hockliffe, said: "I came across this old black and white photo of me and my cousin Ronnie Kane meeting Santa at the John Lewis store in Glasgow in 1952. It got me thinking that while in Finland I could go and meet Santa again - a sort of reciprocal visit if you like.

"After all, Santa is the greatest toy and games-maker in the world. He might have some advice for me and I might even give him a game as a thank you for the toy he gave me all those years ago in Glasgow."

Contrast and colour are the key to developments

I DO not normally have much truck with right-wing reactionary politics. You sense a but, which is correct and it is to do with planning.

For centuries towns and cities were built mainly unplanned and the result, while rarely chaos, was often more pleasing to the eye because it was unplanned.

Then along came planners. To be fair, in many places along came the Luftwaffe, after which some planning was needed to rebuild our towns and cities. Now while I see some planning as necessary and good, the heart and soul of towns and cities were ripped out and replaced by concrete.

Where this did not happen, huge suburban estates were built, complete with shops, schools and a pub. It may be just me, but those estate pubs were always slightly unwelcoming, especially to strangers.

I do remember one where, every Sunday night, the locals performed their own version of Sumo wrestling.

The bar floor was cleared, a ring was made of pool cues and ice was used instead of rice. Then roof tilers, plasterers and bricklayers would strip to their waist and begin combat, displaying, if not the art of Sumo, at least the physique.

Not quite soulless but even so, any stranger to the pub may not have tarried. Many such pubs are being closed down, as are many town pubs, but rarely those built before planners started designing them.

I do realise that there may have been some disasters in days gone by, which have either fallen down or been knocked down, so only the best is left.

Today everyone recognises that the concrete mistakes were a mistake. But even now there is a homogeneity about housing estates being built.

Part of the beauty of many older streets is the contrast of design and colour that breaks up the view and pleases the eye.

Why cannot different styles be embraced on the same bit of land? Planners seem unhappy with this and only want different sizes of home and different methods of ownership. Is there enough social housing is often the key question, not how attractive the development is.

I cannot help feeling that if planners had designed beer, we would all have been drinking keg bitter by now. Which is somewhat ironic, as whenever I attend the Bedford Beer Festival, such as this week, it is full of such people.

RECENTLY I attended a meeting in London on how Freedom of Information legislation was working five years down the line.

The general view was that it was a success story but that may have been because most of the people there were government officials whose job involved FoI.

I pointed out that it was not working so well and one of the main ambitions had not been met.

This was that using the law would, over time, become unnecessary as every government organisation would freely give out the information in the new, open society being created.

This has not happened and even information that a local government body would have handed out a few years ago is now often referred to the FoI officer. So the reverse of what was promised is happening.

Last week we even had the situation where we had asked for information from Bedfordshire Fire Brigade concerning their cars. A subsequent FoI request showed that original information we received to be incorrect.

So, FoI is good but it has not changed the culture of government, where information is still only dragged out, after some kicking and screaming.

And Tony Blair admitted FoI was a mistake, as it let the public know what was going on.

Open government, like religious tolerance, is still more myth than reality.

Have your say on the ambulances' future

WHAT do you think about the ambulance service?

Now's your chance to have your say as East of England NHS Ambulance Service (EEAST) applies to become a foundation Trust.

If it is successful, those who become members of the Trust will have a direct input into how services are improved.

Under the banner 'your service, your say', a consultation will offer patients, members of the public and staff the chance to influence how the Trust would be set up.

EEAST chief executive Hayden Newton said: "Becoming an NHS Foundation Trust will allow for closer links with those who are most important to us – our patients, staff, volunteers and the communities we serve."

"And you can have a greater influence on the delivery and improvement of services in your area by becoming a member."

"We believe that the current one-size-fits-all approach is not always the most appropriate for our patients. It needs to change so that the individual needs of patients can be met more effectively."

"As a foundation Trust we will have greater freedom and scope to look for better ways of meeting our own patients' particular needs and priorities – but we will still be closely inspected and regulated to make sure we achieve all NHS standards."

Events are being arranged across the region during the consultation period where anyone can speak to staff in person about the proposals.

Details can be found at www.foundationtrust.eastamb.nhs.uk

The consultation began this week and ends on December 31.

the Fab Four.

During the 60s, John, Paul, George and Ringo's live shows saw fan hysteria never seen before or since. The Magic of the Beatles superbly recreates these legendary live performances, and more.

Taking you from their Mop Top roots to the psychedelia of Sgt Pepper and beyond, from Love Me Do to Let It Be.

Fantastic costumes, brilliant vocals and incredible musicianship Come Together in a lavish Magical Musical trip back to Yesterday.

Unarguably the greatest band in the world ever, the cast choose from a set list comprising of more than 50 million-selling hits for each show. Who could have imagined just what was to come when the world was introduced to The Beatles in 1960?

Transferring their incredible live shows from residencies in Hamburg to the now-famous Cavern Club, they were eventually discovered by Brian Epstein and signed by George Martin. The rest is the most important chapter of pop music history.

Show producer Michael Taylor said: "The Magic of the Beatles is a two-hour spectacular featuring superb costumes and a cast of skilled musicians and singers."

"The Magic of the Beatles is the band's greatest, best-loved hits performed live."

"It's the most authentic Beatles show to take to the road, even down to original guitars and amps used by the band."

"All you need is the Magic of the Beatles to celebrate 50 years of the most famous band in the world."

Ticket prices start from £18.50 and discount is available for concessions, groups, wheelchair seats and friends of the theatre.

Sunday, 7pm

CELEBRATING their 10th year, Ireland's most successful crossover artists the Celtic Tenors are coming to Dunstable.

Michael and his friends get together to jazz up concert

THE MICHAEL GARRICK JAZZ QUARTET

Luton Library Theatre
 Monday, October 18

IT'S not every concert that features a musician whose talents have been recognised by the award of an MBE.

Michael Garrick is one such, but with such a varied and successful career, it is hard to decide what to highlight.

He is, of course, an accomplished and exciting pianist; he was one of the first musicians to promote poetry and jazz as a concert type; he is a composer of outstanding merit, whose range extends from the religious to Peter Pan, and he has been a professor at the Royal Academy of Music, as well as leading the Jazz Academy's courses.

Michael (pictured) has worked with so many fine musicians the list reads like a list of Who's Who in British jazz, and he is bringing four top-flight colleagues to this concert.

Martin Hathaway, head of Jazz at the Guildhall School of Music, plays saxophone, clarinet and flute; bassist Paul Moylan brings a rare breadth of experience, as he works in the classical field, musical theatre and has even appeared on EastEnders.

Alan Jackson, the drummer, has been a mainstay of the British jazz scene for many years whose work with Mike Westbrook is particularly memorable.

Full details of the season, along with several tempting offers for ticket price reductions can be found on the website www.lutonmusic.org.uk

Tickets are also available from the Luton Library Theatre box office on 01582 547474 or on the door.

Choir has pioneered new approach to singing

RED CROSS CONCERT

St Mary's Church, Luton
 Saturday, October 23, 6.15pm

DUNSTABLE-based community choir Rock-Chorus has signed up to perform at the British Red Cross Charity Concert.

Led by top vocal coach, singer and award-winning songwriter Lauren Field, Rock-Chorus is fast achieving national acclaim for its fresh approach to choir training, catching the attention of both regional and national media with its exhilarating range of original vocal arrangements and performance.

The choir has pioneered a new approach to singing and entertainment for the general public to experience, which they will bring full force to the concert.

Joining Rock-Chorus on the concert line-up are more of Bedfordshire's finest acts including Luton's very own rising star and gospel sensation, Yvonne Sinclair, who recently returned from New York after performing at the world famous and legendary Apollo Theatre in Harlem.

An acclaimed singer in her own right, Yvonne has sang with many of the country's leading gospel choirs and has appeared on the Jonathan Ross Show, MOBOs and has sang with Beverley Trotman and Maxi Priest.

Organiser Dionne Shand of SOS Vocal

Training said: "We are so excited to have such a fine array of singers and dancers taking part in the concert. It is such a privilege.

"On behalf of the Red Cross, I would like to say thank you to everyone who has agreed to take part, helping us to raise much needed funds for both Red Cross grassroots home projects and the Pakistan disaster. It is much appreciated."

Completing the line-up are the Luton Male Voice Choir, Asian Rappers Golden and Kruza, Bedfordshire-based Graham Popland and street dance group, Urbanism.

For more details and to reserve tickets call Dionne on 07733 534529.

An order for advertising services placed by an advertiser or an advertising agency on behalf of an advertiser constitutes an assurance that necessary authorisation or permission has been granted in respect of the use of the advertisement itself, pictorial representation of a living person, references made and words attributed to a living person and text which may be the subject of copyright protection.

4. Printed conditions on advertisement orders will not be recognised as binding unless expressly accepted in writing by the publishers.

5. Advertising rates involving a series, volume or prepayment discount are expressly for the use of the advertiser concerned and are not to be divulged to a third party.

6. All artwork designed by the LSN Studio remains the property of LSN Media. Where artwork services are provided, it is on the understanding that it is for the sole use in any of the LSN Media publications unless prior agreement is sought, any unauthorised reproduction will result in a charge being levied on the publisher concerned.

7. Proofs of advertisements are provided upon request but cannot be guaranteed. Where a proof is supplied, the onus is on the recipient to check that all information is correct and to provide the publisher with any necessary alterations or amendments before the expiration of the deadline. The publisher will not accept responsibility for errors in any advertisement where a proof is supplied and subsequently authorised for publication.

8. Although every effort will be made to meet advertisers' requirements, specified positions cannot be guaranteed within the newspaper.

9. All advertisements which carry a premium telephone number must comply with the Code of Practice of The Independent Committee for the supervision of Standards of Telephone Information Services (CSTIS).

10. The advertiser (or his advertising agency) shall indemnify the publisher in respect of all costs, damages or any other charges as the result of legal action arising from the publisher of a single advertisement for a series of advertisements, published in accordance with copy instructions supplied to the publisher in pursuance of the advertiser or his advertising agency's order.

11. If an advertisement does not appear due to copy or artwork being supplied after the agreed deadline, the space will be payable in full at the published rates.

12. A request to insert an advertisement assumes acceptance of our Terms & Conditions of Advertising.

DISTRIBUTION

1. Unless otherwise stated, distribution will normally take place within the specified publication to the individual addresses which usually receive the publication within the area and on the date scheduled. This does not necessarily imply 100% delivery to all addresses within the area.

2. The publisher shall not be liable for total or partial non delivery of any publication in which an advertisement is scheduled to appear and no reinsertion, refund or adjustment will be made to the advertiser.

BOX NUMBERS

While every endeavour will be made to forward replies to box numbers to the advertiser as soon as possible, no liability will be accepted by the publisher in respect of any loss, damage or delay in forwarding such replies.

CANCELLATION

1. Cancellation of advertisements must be advised 24 hours prior to the booking deadline. If the publisher is unable to resell the space he reserves the right to charge for any loss of revenue incurred.

2. If an advertiser in receipt of a series, volume or prepayment discount cancels before fulfilling the terms of the agreed order, the publisher reserves the right to make a surcharge up to the full published rates for the type of advertisement.

3. Queries concerning cancelled advertisements must be accompanied by the stop number given at the time of cancellation.

PAYMENT

1. Credit facilities are at the discretion of the publisher, but such facilities are limited to strict terms of 30 days. Late payment of account may lead to suspension of account facilities. Any discount which the publisher may have agreed with the advertiser may be forfeit should the advertiser fail to meet the agreed credit terms.

2. Prepaid accounts must be settled by no later than the two days prior to publication. The publisher reserves the right to suspend any advertisement where payment has not been received.

3. Dishonoured cheques will incur a £20 administration fee. All rates are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time of any advertisement is booked to appear. Recognised advertising agency is 10%.

Weight Restriction Residential Zone 16 "The Kingsway Residential Zone" will be added to the existing Weight Restrictions of Residential Zones 8, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13 in Dunstable, which are subject to 7.5 tonnes heavy commercial vehicle weight restrictions.

The proposed Residential Weight Restriction Zone 16 covers that area of Dunstable approximately bounded by, but not including, the A505 Church Street to the south; the old railway line to the north and east; and Grove House Gardens and the Asda superstore to the west. More specifically the Restricted Zone includes Kingsway, part of Court Drive, part of College Drive, Bernard Close, Kingscroft Avenue, Dorchester Close and The Mall.

The proposed Order will include exemptions to permit heavy commercial vehicles to enter the restricted zone for the purposes of loading/unloading, off-road garaging, emergency and for other building and maintenance operations.

Further Details: of the proposed Order, a plan and a statement of reasons for proposing to make the Order may be examined during normal office hours at the offices of Central Bedfordshire Council below and normal opening hours at Dunstable Library, Vernon Place, LU5 4HA. These details will be placed on deposit until 6 weeks after the Order is made or until it is decided not to continue with the proposal. Telephone Andrew Williams on 0845 365 6000 (e-mail: andrew.williams@amey.co.uk) for further advice on this proposal.

Objections should be sent in writing to the Orders & Commons Registration Officer, Countryside Access Service, Central Bedfordshire Council, Technology House, 239 Amphill Road, Bedford MK42 9QQ (e-mail: chris.heard@centralbedfordshire.gov.uk), stating the grounds on which they are made by 2nd November 2010.

Order Title: if made will be "The County of Bedfordshire (The South Bedfordshire District (Various Residential Zones) (Prohibition of Heavy Commercial Vehicles) Order 1996) (Variation No. 1) Order 2010".

NO JOKE: Louise Hazel celebrates taking a surprise gold for England in the heptathlon with Jo Jackson (inset) also claiming victory in the 20km walk

Hazel's gold fever

LOUISE HAZEL had the last laugh as she claimed a shock Commonwealth Games gold in Delhi yesterday.

The 25-year-old Londoner won the heptathlon ahead of England team-mate Grace Clements, who took bronze on a day which began with Jo Jackson taking the 20-kilometre walk title in India's capital.

Greg Rutherford won long-jump silver at the Jawaharlal Nehru Stadium, but Chris Tomlinson's season ended in a whimper as injury contributed to his failure to register a legal leap.

Hazel's triumph meant the day was bookended by England golds following Jackson's early victory.

Hazel finished the seven-discipline event with a total of 6,156 points, clinging on to gold by 56 points from silver medalist Jessica Zelinka, of Canada, who won the final event, the 800m, in two minutes 15.26 seconds. Hazel, who finished in 2mins 20.33secs, said: "In January I told my physio that I was going to get a gold medal, but I was only joking."

"So to come here, be realistically outside of a medal chance, and to come away with gold is more than I ever expected."

In the men's long jump, Rutherford leapt 8.22m to finish second to Australia's Fabrice Lapierre, who won gold in 8.30m.

The 23-year-old from Milton Keynes said: "I wanted to win, I knew there were some big jumps in me and I'm gutted I didn't get over 8.30m – I really felt as if I could have done that."

"But it's all about producing on the day and 8.22m is the best jump I've ever done in a major final."

England shooter Anita North drew on the experience of her last competition in India to win the gold medal after beating Scotland's Shona Marshall in the women's singles trap.

North, a 47-year-old regulatory affairs specialist from Cambridge, fired a winning score of 93 to pip Scotland's Shona Marshall, who finished with 91, to the gold.

The Home Nations wrapped up the swimming programme with proof they are closing the gap on Australia.

British swimmers claimed 38 medals in total, including nine gold medals, thanks to the efforts of English quartet Rebecca Adlington, Liam Tancock, James Goddard – who all secured two apiece – and Fran Halsall as well as Scottish pair Robbie Renwick and Hannah Miley.

Adlington said: "I am always ready to challenge Australia. We are going to start overtaking them soon."

Westwood eyes top spot with 66

ST ANDREWS, the Home of Golf, could today see Lee Westwood crowned as the new world No.1 – and little-known John Parry as the shock winner of one of Europe's richest events.

Westwood, needing a first or second-place finish in the Dunhill Links Championship to end the latest five-year reign of Tiger Woods, made light of an aching leg to fire a spectacular 66 at Carnoustie. It lifted the 37-year-old all the way from 32nd place to joint fifth on eight under par. "Everybody playing out here would love to be able to say they are the best player in the world – anybody who plays professional sport," said Westwood.

World No.177 Parry, 23, is now 188 holes away from a £502,000 jackpot.

WESTWOOD: Shot 66

npower FOOTBALL LEAGUE ONE ROUND-UP

A CONTROVERSIAL injury-time penalty by Marc Pugh earned promotion-chasing Bournemouth a 1-1 draw against League One leaders Brighton.

Pugh scored from the spot after Tommy Elphick was adjudged to have handled the ball, but Brighton claimed the offence took place outside the area.

Referee Darren Sheldrake consulted with his assistant before pointing to the spot. Albion boss Gus Poyet said: "The big disappointment was that the linesman was in the wrong position to give it."

CARLISLE kept in close contention behind Brighton at the top with a 1-0 win over Notts County.

Goals from HARTLEPOOL defender Peter Hartley and midfielder Gary Little gave the home side a 2-0 win to dent PETERBOROUGH'S promotion push.

And MK DONS kept DAGENHAM AND REDBRIDGE anchored in the bottom four with a 2-0 home win.

Goals from Sam Baldock in the 55th minute and Mathias Dombé six minutes later kept the home side close to the play-off places.

Downing called after Lennon KO

STEWART DOWNING has been called into the England squad for their Euro 2012 qualifier with Montenegro after Aaron Lennon was ruled out with a sore back.

The Tottenham winger missed training on Friday after reporting the problem and after further tests yesterday morning, it was decided to release him back to his club for further treatment.

Lennon, who has not played for England since the World Cup, is the second player to leave the camp in as many days after Phil Jagielka's withdrawal with a hamstring injury. It means Downing will link up with former Middlesbrough team-mate Adam Johnson at international level for the first time, although it is Manchester City's Johnson who is far more likely to start the match.

DOWNING: In for Lennon

Peeverell wins it late on to lift Rovers off bottom of the table

ZAMARETTO DIVISION ONE CENTRAL
BARTON ROVERS 1
MARLOW 0

A LATE goal by Tom Peeverell clinched victory against high flyers Marlow in a surprise win moving Rovers away from the bottom of the table. Barton have only won three games this season, all at home which saw them lingering second from bottom before the vital win. Both teams played cautiously in the first half with neither side looking dominant as the ball stayed in midfield, with few chances created. Marlow had the best opportunity of the half after a 20 yard shot forced goalkeeper Grant Beckwith to make a good save, ensuring the score was 0-0 at the break. Both sides showed more enthusiasm to try and open the scoring in the second period with Marlow coming close, seeing their substitute's shot creep past the post within minutes of the restart. Rovers were slightly on the back foot with Marlow edging them out throughout most of the second half. It wasn't until the 85th minute that substitute Joe Corrie made a long run down the right, skipped past the defence and hit a powerful low cross into the box which was met by Tom Peeverell who came in at pace to drill it into the back of the net for a late winner. Barton Rovers turn there attention to the FA Trophy second round next Saturday with a visit to Bury Town.

FANS' FAVOURITE:
Danny Crow

BY JAMES CUNLIFFE
james.cunliffe@lutononsunday.com

YESTERDAY marked what would have been Beate John Lennon's 70th birthday. The Fab Four once sang, 'Money Can't Buy Me Love'. Well, it seems in the Luton Town manager's case, that all the money in Manchester City owner Sheikh Mansoor's deep pockets couldn't buy him any of late. But on Friday he made a very persuasive case as to just why there should be a little more singing and a little less sniping. Most football press conferences are necessary, if uneventful, affairs. We journalists find out who's fit and who's not, the mood in the camp and what a tough prospect the next opponents are, be they high-flyers or relegation fodder. But once in a blue moon the media emerges from the manager's office and thinks, 'Wow. That could be a turning point.' Having personally covered Luton under four different managers there has been one of these under every custodian – and they've all been at the tail end of their stay – almost a last rights on the Luton career. Take, for example, not too many moons ago, the day where the press were assembled and told to make administration, the threat of relegation and a sense of impending doom, 'smell a bit sweeter'.

Naturally it was met with derision. But if sense prevails after Money's clear-the-air-talk on Friday, his critics might just think, 'actually, it ain't half bad'. And it's not. Perhaps I'm putting myself in the firing line, but in my time covering Luton it has been Money's charges who have played the best football, hands down. It's no use harping back and saying what happened in the eighties or the nineties or the noughties. Those days are gone. Money says, look to the future be positive and yet I've heard things like, 'why not get David Pleat in as a consultant?' Football fans are by their nature quite a nostalgic bunch, but it ain't half frustrating to hear the likes of West Ham, Liverpool and Tottenham et al, bleat on about past glories. The actions of the board wanting Money to extend his stay should say it all about the job he is undertaking. What he is doing – and it's still a work in progress – is drag a club out of the doldrums. Unfortunately, for most of my time I've seen nothing but defeat, financial woes and relegation – three of them in fact. Last year I saw sparkling, free-flowing football, goals galore and a title chase. The reason it fell short? Stevenage MANNY Oshunrinde has promised to give Matt 'Firefighter' Jack hell when the pair go toe-to-toe as part of the Graham Earl promoted Judgement Night on Saturday at Northampton Cricket Ground. The middleweight from Luton via London and US believes his second fight will really get his career off to a bang after medical complications put paid to his debut against Brian Cusack in Bedford in May. The affable character, who fights out of former world champion Earl's House of Champions gym on New Bedford Road, produced a storming first two rounds before he suffered an allergic reaction to codeine taken for an old basketball injury. He ultimately lost by knockout before receiving extended treatment at ringside and kept in hospital for two days. "I'm definitely ready for this fight," he said. "I was ready for the last one but my previous injury just crept up on me at the wrong time. "I haven't done a lot of research [on Jack], but I've seen the opponents that he's lost to. You can't judge a book by its cover or a fighter based on the opponents he's lost to, but I'm going to give him hell. "The most important thing is winning. Looking good is another thing, but if you look good and lose, you haven't really benefited. I want to entertain the crowd but a win is the most thing. "Going for the knockout might not be the best thing but if it comes, I'll take it. "I had my last opponent [Cusack] down but he got saved by the bell. I wasn't going for the knockout, I just caught him with a good right hand. "I'll do everything I've learnt in the gym and I'm pretty sure the knockout will come."

Manny out to put debut drama

BOXING

Oshunrinde's passage into the fight game came after his knee problems put an end of hopes of a career in professional basketball. He was offered a scholarship to play for Albany State University in Georgia and upped sticks from London to cross the pond. Spells playing in Italy followed before he sought a new path. "I got convinced to come out here and try something different, since I wasn't playing basketball," he said. "Previous to basketball I did do amateur boxing in Georgia, so I did have somewhat of a boxing background, but I didn't pursue it because I got a scholarship which I couldn't refuse. "A friend of mine introduced me to Jack Lindsay who's had a couple of world champion, Luton's Billy Schwer being one of them. "I was working with him in the Lewsey Farm Amateur Boxing Club for a while. They wanted me to go back to the amateur game, but I personally think that I was a bit too mature of the amateur game - not that I was above it though. "A friend of mine then introduced me to Graham Earl and I've been with him since the end of 2008. It's been a pretty good experience working with him. "He's shown me a lot of simple things to add to my arsenal. He's told me things about that I knew and things I didn't know - just things that can take my career to the next level." Oshunrinde will be on the exciting undercard of Judgement Night which is co-headlined by two title bouts featuring Earl-managed fighters. Jay Morris will battle home town boxer Gavin Deacon for the British Masters light welterweight belt, while Paul Morby who will be battling it out with Steve Timms for the vacant British Masters super middleweight title. There will also be the professional debuts of Ian were a machine. Any other year, Luton's points total would have seen their stay in the Blue Square Bet Premier as a short one.

Equally, Money took over at almost the same stage last term. The Hatters were fourth, exactly where they were after Tuesday night. But, like he said on Friday, leaders Crawley are a good team – but they aren't Stevenage.

Individual results also require a bit of context, especially after Crawley drew 1-1 at Barrow yesterday. But last season, one of Luton's most memorable victories at home came against Oxford United. With five minutes to go the Hatters were 1-0 down. An equaliser raised the roof, but a last gasp Keith Keane winner, straight from a corner kick, blew it off.

Over the course of the campaign, the U's fell away and Town mounted a charge for the summit. Yet, it is Oxford who now ply their trade in the Football League and with the services of Tom Craddock to boot.

The moral of the story being that old football adage of, it's a marathon, not a sprint.

Clearly, there are some sections of the support who think the man in charge is making odd selection choices.

This is something that will never go away with football fans. Everyone of the 6,895 that turned up on Tuesday night will have had their own opinion of who should have played where and who should have been on or off the pitch.

I don't agree with everything the manager says or does. In particular, I think it should be Danny Crow and one other up front. The man scored 19 goals last season in an average Cambridge United side, and he can also unlock a defence.

But, on the whole, It was hard to disagree, when he said on Friday, "In my opinion, they [fans] cannot have a better manager in this league than me right now, or in the one above or the one above that."

What's the alternative? It certainly isn't Pleat.

Money also said that Luton were the better side against Crawley for 80 minutes, which is true, and that no-one can account for the mistakes that allowed them to steal the points – another argument well made, "It hurts in the short term," he assessed.

But what you can account for is that over the course of the season, if the team plays as it did on Tuesday night, and, as Money realises, they eradicate the mistakes, there will be vastly more ups than there will be downs.

So, just as Yoko Ono yesterday reiterated the famous mantra of her husband, for once it might be good if we give peace a chance.

DOUBLE DELIGHT: Luton (in green and red) secured their passage into the semi-finals of the East Midlands Cup after drawing their league clash 25-25 as the match against Old Northamptonians combined as both competitions

Spears secures draw before Luton run riot in cup

NATIONAL LEAGUE THREE MIDLANDS/EAST MIDLANDS CUP

LUTON RUGBY CLUB came back from 18-3 down at half time to draw 25-25 with Old Northamptonians before playing 20 extra minutes and winning 49-25 as the match doubled as an East Midlands quarter final clash.

ONs' Matt Ireland did most of the damage for the home side in the first half, running in a hat-trick of tries and posing a threat every time he got ball in hand.

But Luton responded after the interval with four tries of their own, to not only draw level by the 80th minute, but also grab a bonus point.

The visitors started the scoring in the 12th minute with a penalty goal from Aidan Kenny, who put in an unusually poor performance with the boot.

Three minutes later though Ireland ran in his first score and Alex Rose converted to overturn the score. Another try and two Rose penalties just before the break, put ONs in charge as Luton committed an offence in the scrum and then an obstruction.

Five minutes after the restart and Chris Snelling reduced the arrears with a try, but Ireland and Rose put another seven points on the board for the hosts.

A yellow card for Northamptonians saw Luton exploit the extra man's advantage and midway through the half Joe Lynch dotted down.

Kenny then converted his own try before Jimmy Spears crossed the line with two minutes remaining to earn a draw.

With Luton in the ascendancy, they dominated the two ten minute extra time periods which doubled up as the cup tie, racking up 24 points.

Scores came from Snelling, Spears, Alex Sutherland and a Kenny try, which he converted himself, one minute from time.

The final 49-25 result saw Luton progress into the last four of the East Midlands Cup, a competition they lost to Peterborough in the final last season. The draw is yet to be made though the Newlands Road club do know they will be the away side.

far behind him

Boyd, Terry Holmes and Joe Hillerby who will fight Luton's Gavin Putney.

Ahead of his second show, Earl said: "It's looking good. The fighters are all in good shape and it's going to be a good night of boxing for the fans."

"If you're a boxing fan then it's definitely well worth the money. We aren't cutting anyone short and they're getting good, even fights and Gavin Deacon versus Jay Morris, is going to be a bit of a barnstormer."

In Morris' first fight under the tutelage of Earl he claimed a points victory against Kristian Laight at Bedford Corn Exchange and with it the vacant British Masters light-welterweight title, but Earl thinks that Deacon presents a very sturdy challenge.

He said: "At first I looked at it and I thought Jay would walk through him, but the kid [Deacon] is a tough lad and fighting in his own town will give him an extra 25 per cent boost.

"Jay has that to fight against and if he does he could be a double champion.

"Ever since he's been with me, we've just turned his career around and if this goes right then we'd be looking at a Southern Area title shot, so he can't afford any mistakes.

"My plan is then to get a British title for him in about ten or 11 months time. But he has to take each fight one at a time and he's going to have a tough customer in front of him. I don't think he'll underestimate Deacon."

Tickets are still available for the night which features a host of fighters from Earl's stable. Ringside £50, Seating £35 and Standing/Balcony £30 call 01582 451117.

FROM BASKETBALL TO BOXER: Manny Oshunrinde

MIDLANDS ONE EAST

DUNSTABLIANS still haven't won a game this season after a crushing 58-10 defeat at Mansfield.

Eighteen points is their highest total in one game this season with most of their fixtures seeing them barely reach over ten.

Mansfield exposed the visitors on their flanks early on as their opponents looked slow, putting them on the back foot immediately.

The hosts opened the scoring but Dunstablians got back into the game after Dave Batman grabbed a try, converted by Keiron Leech who scored a penalty soon after.

The half time score was 27-10, leaving Dunstablians with a lot of work to do.

The second half saw Mansfield run away with the game as Dunstablians crumbled and struggled to defend.

They did manage some good periods of play but Mansfield simply outplayed a team desperately out of form.

Dunstablians will hope to record their first win against rivals county rivals Bedford Athletic at home next Saturday.

INTERMEDIATE CUP FIRST ROUND

STOCKWOOD PARK Enjoyed a 12-5 victory away at Northampton BBOB in a closely fought match.

The first half saw Stockwood dominate, and they were rewarded with the first try of the game, James Hankey producing some good rugby in the middle of the pitch, before offloading to Paul Harman, who then drove over the line from ten yards out. Steve Pollock converted to make it 7-0.

Stockwood Park continued to have the better of the possession, but were unable to convert on any of their forward play until Pete Edwards then provided the breakthrough that the visitors deserved.

He received the ball from full back Duncan Bright, and ran through to cross the whitewash and give Stockwood a 12-0 lead, Pollock missing the conversion.

Northampton then turned up the pressure in the second half and began to dominate the game like Park had done previously.

The home side could have scored within minutes of the break, but eventually did touchdown ten minutes later.

Stockwood held out however and completed a tough, but deserved victory.

Money urges fans to see how far club has come

BY JAMES CUNLIFFE

james.cunliffe@lutononsunday.com

RICHARD Money has been offered a deal to extend his stay at Luton Town – but says he won't sign it... yet.

The manager made the revelation in a passionate press conference on Friday, which he called in the aftermath of anger from some fans at their crushing last gasp 2-1 defeat to big spending Crawley Town on Tuesday night.

Money (pictured right) felt forced into a defence of his team selection and expressed his shock that detractors can't see the progress that the club as a whole has made since he took over last season.

But he said that the only way the club can continue to make strides forward is with everyone from board level, management, staff, players and supporters pulling in the same direction.

"Over the past two or three weeks, the people who run this football club have come to me and they want me to stay for an extended period," he said. "I haven't discussed it with them, I haven't signed it and I'm not going to – and I'll tell you why."

"If I don't feel that everyone is in the same ship, pushing forward in the same way and understanding how you build and rebuild a proper football club – which we are doing – whilst still affecting first team performance and results, then I won't sign it. That's simple."

He added: "Every single football club that I have ever worked for, and will ever work for again, is always a better club when I leave it than when I arrive. This club is already better now than when I came here."

"It's younger, it's more athletic, the young players are already assets in some cases, but will become even bigger assets in the future.

"This football club is extremely sound and stable and I am not going to destroy that."

On some section of the support calling for his head, he said: "I can promise you this – if it ever gets to a stage where I don't want to do this job, or I don't think I'm the right person for this job, the fans won't have to do anything. Pure and simple."

"In my opinion, they cannot have a better manager in this league than me right now, or in the one above or the one above that. That's reality."

"I think there is a lot of support out there but there is a section of people who are never happy."

"The performance on Tuesday night wins that game nine times out of ten. That is all people should concentrate on."

He added: "Twelve months ago I took over an ageing, over-hyped, overrated and over paid squad of players. Within 12 months we now have a much younger, vibrant and cost effective group of players who, in my opinion are a lot better than the group we had last year."

"People should also know that the squad that we have now costs 30 per cent less than what it cost last year."

"It means that the budget is sustainable, not only for the short term, but for the long term future."

"If people don't want that in their manager, if they are only going to be concerned with the short term, want a team that are going to hoof it forward and are not bothered about the long term, then go and get somebody else."

"If you want to look at first team results in the league in my tenure, we have played 43 games, won 24 games, drawn 11 and lost eight. We've scored 81 goals and conceded 36. If that isn't good enough for some people, then they know what they have to do – just keep forcing the pressure, make the people upstairs a bit jittery and it happens. All I'm saying is, be careful what you ask for."

"I don't believe any football club can go forward if the board, the manager, the players and the supporters are not all together as one."

"At the minute, I genuinely feel that I don't know what more they [fans] want us to do."

"Are they genuinely saying that if we are not top of the league and running away with it every year, that they are going to call for the manager's head? Where are we going if that's the situation?"

"We have a real football club re-emerging at this place, right now. We are moving so strongly in the right direction it is unbelievable."

"Again, I say, if people are demanding what I'm hearing they are at the minute, then be careful what you ask for."

"You may just get a manager that smashing everything up the top, is only interested in the short term, throws too much money at it and puts the club in trouble over the next two or three years."

"If that's what you want go and get it."
